Clay Pot Creative celebrates 10

October 11, 2010 – Fort Collins, Colo. ... Clay Pot Creative, a local web design and marketing agency, will celebrate 10 years in business this year. November marks the actual milestone, but a big bash was held on 10.10.10 as a witty way to commemorate the occasion.

Anyone and everyone who had a hand in helping build the company's success over the years was included. Local favorite Domenic's Bistro & Wine Bar was the site of the event and the highly acclaimed The Key of Joy provided incredible acoustic sounds.

Each guest received $10.00 to donate to one of three charities Clay Pot Creative regularly supports: Food Bank for Larimer County, Pathways Hospice and Realities for Children. All-in-all $560 was donated. Generous clients also provided gifts for 10 prize drawings.

In 10 years, Julia Leach, owner and principal of Clay Pot Creative, has grown the company from freelance consulting in a small home office to a thriving business with now six employees located in prime office space. Though the capabilities, breadth of service, and staff have grown tremendously over the years, Leach is still passionate about taking care of clients and forming long-term relationships. Her vision of taking a different approach to customizing the experience for the customer is the cornerstone of her entrepreneurial spirit.

Strategically located in mid-town Fort Collins, Clay Pot Creative serves the entire northern Colorado region with a variety of creative and technical services, including custom website development, full service graphic design, plus online marketing, offline marketing services, and branding.
