Advanced Energy Legislation Tracker

Wanting to create the ultimate archive of energy based legislation across the entire United States, the Advanced Energy Legislation Tracker (AEL Tracker) needed a solution that efficiently displayed and tracked every energy related bill that spanned the nation each year.

To be as user friendly as possible, Clay Pot Creative developed a search tool that allowed site viewers the ability to simultaneously search for bills by state, policy type, year, bill status, and keyword to find exactly what they were looking for. Aggregating updates daily, users are able to see the latest version of each bill, how senators and other representatives vote on each bill, geographic breakdowns, trending information, and more.

Since its inception, nearly 2,000 individual bills have been included in the AEL Tracker site, each with a surplus of policy specific information, making it the go to resource nationwide for those looking for updates on energy based legislation.
